

THE CAIN FAMILY

MISSIONARIES TO CEBU, PHILIPPINES

End of the Year Review

We have been so busy this month, that updates to this letter were happening faster than I could get it sent out. It has officially been seven months since we boarded a plane and moved our family to Cebu. It is interesting how our ministry is not exactly what we pictured while on deputation. While our attempts to get something started in some places have not yielded any results so far, God has opened up doors we never expected.

Our teacher-focused Bible studies have seen a number of the teachers really open up to us. Many have been asking us to pray for their families, their marriages, and even some rough situations that they have been going through. Please pray that the Holy Spirit will continue to work in the hearts of these teachers and that we will see many saved.

The small church that we have been helping has required much more of our time and effort than originally planned. While we are eager to see this church succeed, it has been a stressful transition. However, we have seen some real rays of hope. We have begun a couple weekly evangelistic outreaches and periodic leadership trainings. Please keep this church and community in your prayers as well.
